I present you the series of artworks done during 2010-2013 which I call "Through Turbulence". This series has become a diary for me, which by flipping the page, the picture becomes clear. I had to live it to see this period in reality, a phenomenon that occurred to me. I had to live it with the expectation of identifying other personal areas in my life. The images are the clear formation of my states of mind and heart, displayed in shapes and colors. Sometimes it seems that at different stages of life, I enter into and exit out of different, other spaces. Every change sometimes seems awfully difficult, it is a change of space, a change of ideas, and a change of environment; a shift that the body also seems to be changing.
